

2020 Mid year summary

Shanghai Chapter IACRN

Shanghai-China Chapter-Pilot originally planned to hold the second China international research nurse forum in Nanjing, Jiangsu Province, China in June 2020, inviting domestic colleagues and foreign experts to attend the forum to discuss a series of issues concerned by CRN. Affected by the outbreak of NCoV-19, the forum has to be postponed to an appropriate time in 2021.

In January of 2020, Shanghai Chapter organized a group of experts setting up a writing group to begin the writing of CRN management consensus in China. The first draft was completed in June. It will be discussed and revised internally and the draft for comments will be published on the website of Shanghai Chapter in August after reviewing by related experts and professionals. The group plans to finalize the draft and complete CRN management consensus in China within this year.

The department of education and training has made limited progress due to the impact of the epidemic situation and the completion of CRN management consensus in China. On the establishment of a systematic CRN education curriculum, CRN management consensus needs to be finalized, followed by the corresponding curriculum design and arrangement with the use of network platform.

Based on the questionnaire survey results among large-scale research nurses last year, the department of research summarized characteristics of 12 kind of practitioners of clinical research nurses in China, combined with IACRN competency standards, explored the competency status of Chinese clinical research nurses in 9 aspects, providing reference for the future development of industry practice, training and assessment standards. The article is scheduled to be published in August 2020.

The Department of Finance and Technology originally planned to establish a national website platform to prepare for the second China international CRN forum. At the conference of Eastern Cancer Alliance of clinical trials last December, Shanghai Chapter was recommended to pave the way for the second China international CRN forum to be held in 2020. Current website domain name (iacrn.com.cn and iacrn.cn) has been put on record and can be used selectively. Website construction, platform introduction, background design and other related work has been carried out. It is planned to hold an expert committee in the coming half of the year to determine the overall layout, plate setting, content layout and version update schedule. Once the website is mature and stable, it will provide a service platform for CRN's systematic education and training as well as Shanghai Chapter's international CRN forum.
